Pleasant Street to Close on June 3 for Pedestrian Bridge Installation

May 30, 2019 - Beloit College's pedestrian bridge is expected to be installed on June 3, which requires a portion of Pleasant Street and the pedestrian path to be closed for one day.

The installation may be delayed due to a number of factors, including weather condition. All vehicle and pedestrian traffic will be detoured to Fourth Street and via the Portland Avenue and Broad Street bridges. The contractor will have signs and barricades warning the public of the closure and detour route.

Beloit College is renovating the old power generation station-Powerhouse into an award-winning student center and the pedestrian bridge is part of Beloit College's project.

As always, motorists are to proceed with caution when driving through construction zones, and be on the lookout for ever-changing conditions.
